We are excited for the start of the new school year and are equally excited to bring Smart Families to our school. We know the negative impacts smartphones and social media have on the wellbeing of our students and family life. It is time we started working together to establish new norms in our community that align with our Catholic beliefs.

Smart Families will be hosting a number of educational events for families and the children in our community during the school year.

This is a priority for our school and expect all families to participate. To learn more about Smart Families, please see the attachment and visit www.Smart-Families.org.

What is Smart Families?

An organization that empowers families to build communities that engage with technology in a healthy, intentional way that is respectful of our innate human dignity.

What are our community norms?

Prioritize your family and your values
Delay smartphones until high school
Delay social media until 16
Phone free school day

How will Smart Families be involved in our community?

Throughout the year, Smart Families will provide parental education on campus and online, family workshops, age appropriate presentations for children and educational newsletters. Families from your community will take a lead with this mission to support and encourage the community norms.

To learn more, visit Smart-Families.org, subscribe to our newsletters and follow Smart Families on Social Media:
